

Let's address the Neptune incident as the first point.

Initially, I wasn't informed of their ban until it had already occurred. As evident from the majority of the photos, I was not present during the incident.

I will repeat,

I was not present when Neptune was defending Pink.

I made the decision to play with her and discuss Pink's ban from the game as well as the allegations against him (Him being Neptune). The nature of our conversation should be apparent because I ultimately made the choice to permanently remove her from the game. I did not make any attempts to scrutinize any information because it was VERY concrete. It is important to clarify that we are not close friends, despite the portrayal that exists in their document. We have not engaged in personal conversations before or after her ban from the game. I do not know them that well and will continue to keep my distance. No acquaintances either.

EXPOSÉ-INT

As per usual, check comments

Before:

Zen/Dex took no part in this drama, but it did seem to change his demeanour with the community.

While Zen/Dex took a limited part in this drama, there are recurring themes that would repeat themselves in dramas relating to pedophilia.

Updated for clarity.

If you were not friends with them and decided to go inside a private server, why not just use Direct Messages on Discord.

It does seem like you are friends, considering in the photograph(s) of you encouraging him to vent to Poopgamer36522 and Neptune even after he made it very apparent you urging him to do this was emotionally distressing.

Next, fabricated evidence:

In this image, N3ko displayed irrational behavior towards me, despite my attempts to gather facts and eliminate any irrelevant information that did not pertain to the initial allegations of pedophilia.

BEFORE the accusations and it was easy to debunk his fabricated evidence.

catboytrolling 05/22/2023 4:43 PM

there was likely coercion involved anco said at the time he was doing it out of pity but given that poopgamer posted a poll to ban anco from the server for 2 weeks after they fell out there was likely some coercion during the time they "made up" and there was certainly targeted abuse of power after they did

Zzzz! 05/22/2023 4:44 PM

that was a different thing 💀💀💀💀💀💀💀💀

catboytrolling 05/22/2023 4:44 PM

what motherfucker what the fuck are you talking about

Zzzz! 05/22/2023 4:45 PM

I was told about it

it was about him fooling around other submissives and at the time Poop owned Anco

this is a different situation, bro.

To Expand on this,

There was a conflict between Anco and Poop, because Poop had started to focus on others more than him, and it was a running joke that Poop had owned Anco. Apparently it wasn't that MUCH of a joke, and Poop had felt jealousy despite the fact it was him that took on other people. Which resulted in their initial fallout.

(Disregard line 1-4)

Anco 27/04/2023 15:56

I won't forgive her for that

And we were close enough that I even know how we looked like irl and some other stuff

We were really close but she had to ruin it

And now in order to not see me again, because she will feel bad she keeps me blocked

I think poop did that in thr trc server, I blocked him because he wouldn't leave me in peace even though he was with drew

Bro is jealous thar I do other shit with neko and metal when poop was the one that fucked up once he changed me for drew

Alls fine though, I don't hate him nor would do anything against him, and same with shad

But poop kept messing up with me though

So I blocked him and ignore him in the discord chat, now to see this vote and be muted then

Honestly I don't know myself even

I hate all yk

Excepting some people

They all suck except the ones that truly know me cause the way i act in public it is just a shell and not the real way I am

At this point, I discovered that they had been making presumptions in their case Poop and why Anco was banned.

Poop and why Anco was banned.

Fortunately, I was able to uncover the actual reason for Poop banning Anco prior to the accusations.

They had banned Anco based on multiple reports of general behavioral problems, which the community had grown to dislike about Anco. This led to the management team discussing the appropriate course of action, ultimately resulting in a two-week ban.

Azuran Today at 7:06 PM

btw it wasnt just poop who banned anco if i remember correctly it was decided by me and pedro as well to give em a 2 week ban in a ticket pete may have been there aswell but i honestly cant remember

Extraoton 04/21/2023 123 PM

@everyone Since a lot of people have been complaining to the point where tickets were made because of their behavior, we decided to give this choice to you, Should we ban Anco, we are serious this time. [2 weeks, discord ban only]

I want to clarify that I was not aware of the problem until after the incident that led to the banning taking place(Anco's Ban). It was only afterwards that I became aware of the situation between Poop and Anco. Only N3ko was informed and he did not report it(to me at least) until Poop defended Pink's allegations.

Zzzz! 05/22/2023 4:46 PM

so why are you saying that

catboytrolling 05/22/2023 4:46 PM

what

how is it a different situation

you can't just say shit without backing it up

Zzzz! I was told about it

Zzzz! 05/22/2023 4:46 PM

okay so, read from here

so we're on the same page

I did explain that man.

I was told.

It's why I revoked the ban.

The abuse of power is not what we're here about it.

I get you're frustrated but I'm here to get facts.

Well the announcement rolled out and seeing so whatevs.

After this, he did not respond back. All I wanted him to do is understand why I was acting that way. I wasn't advocating for Poop. I just wanted facts. Note, I did tell him why I revoked the ban and he discarded it.

After a thorough analysis of the evidence(PAST EVIDENCE), it became apparent that Poop was intentionally targeted with misleading information by N3ko. Rather than losing a skilled developer, I decided to give Poop an opportunity to return under the alias CarbonOwl while we worked on addressing the allegations. (AFTER THE BAN)

However, it later became clear that Poop had been involved in similar problematic behavior on multiple occasions. Consequently, we had made the choice of permanently removing him from the community.

I want to emphasize that we did indeed consider the information provided by others, including N3ko. (THIS WAS AFTER THE BAN, WHERE THE FIRST IMAGES PROVIDED TO ME BY N3KO, PROVED TO BE MISCONDUCT.)

We never disregarded the solid evidence they eventually presented after Poop was revealed to be CarbonOwl. My only regret is that all the evidence was not initially shared with us, as it could have helped prevent this situation from unfolding in the first place. More reason we had no trust in them.

Well,

In summary,
Poop had a bad reputation, and as a result, he became a menace in the community.

The community reached their breaking point when he began defending Pink when she faced her accusations. At first, I supported the decision to ban Poop due to the situation. However, upon carefully examining the evidence afterwards, it became clear that someone had intentionally targeted him with unclear information. (N3ko)

Instead of losing a talented developer, I allowed Poop to return using the alias CarbonOwl, while we attempted to address the allegations. However, it became evident that he had engaged in similar behavior multiple times. As a result, we made the decision to permanently remove him.

I REALLY want to make it clear that we did rely on information provided by others and N3ko. I never dismissed the concrete evidence they eventually presented once Poop was discovered to be CarbonOwl. My only wish is that they had shown us all the real evidence from the beginning, as it could have prevented this situation from occurring in the first place.

This case is challenging to handle because I don't have complete knowledge of the entire truth. However, I have enough information to explain the reasoning behind my team's decision and why it is undoubtedly the worst one.

Before I proceed, I want to clarify that I do not endorse the actions of any party involved, including my own decisions, which I deeply regret.

As I continue, I will debunk the misinformation spread by others.

Let's begin with Yush's involvement, which is the shortest part of the story. Yush appointed Sun as the co-owner of Letrux and she took on the responsibilities of development and management, while Yush remained in the background. Yush didn't have any direct involvement in what Sun did, but since he created the game, it's understandable that they hold him responsible for it. However, it's important to note that Yush had no direct involvement in the actions and decisions made by Sun in relation to Letrux.

Despite this, I even gave them the opportunity to appeal the decision, because the evidence against them was confusing. It became evident that none of us possessed enough information to make a definitive judgment. This is where I take responsibility as this was not the right move(Allowing her to appeal). Luckily I was advised against this and she was not allowed back.

To help you understand the reasoning behind certain choices, let's take a look at an example photo.

she looks real (edited)

poster. It is a screenshot within a screenshot, where someone comments that the AI art looks realistic. Sun's involvement or role as the poster is not apparent from the image.

Now, here's a more updated version of the imagery.

In this particular image, there is a screenshot within a screenshot(Once again). It's important to note that Sun is not directly associated with the image(as yet), yet they (Xene and N3ko) tried to present it as evidence of her being a pedophile. This was accompanied by additional allegations within the server, which I will address shortly.

Additionally, it's important to consider that Sun may not be fluent in English, making it difficult to fully grasp the context behind some of her statements and their direct messages (DMs). It becomes evident that they were engaged in a conversation before he posted the image, emphasizing the need to consider the previous dialogue for a comprehensive understanding.

I was displeased with his attempt to forge evidence, which is certainly an unacceptable action.

Such behavior puts us in a difficult position where we must determine what we truly believe and what is actually true. It becomes harder to carefully analyze the available information and seek out reliable evidence to make informed decisions, if no one can tell the truth.

FINALLY, I managed to get my hands on some relevant information shown here:

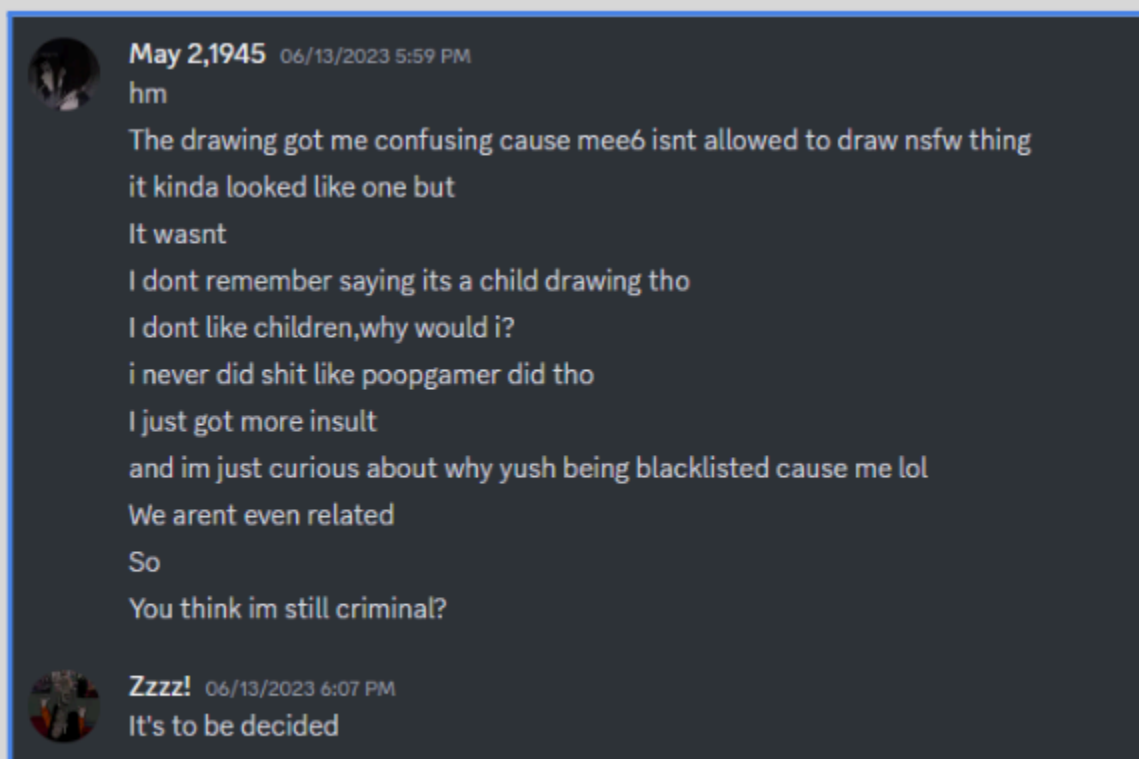

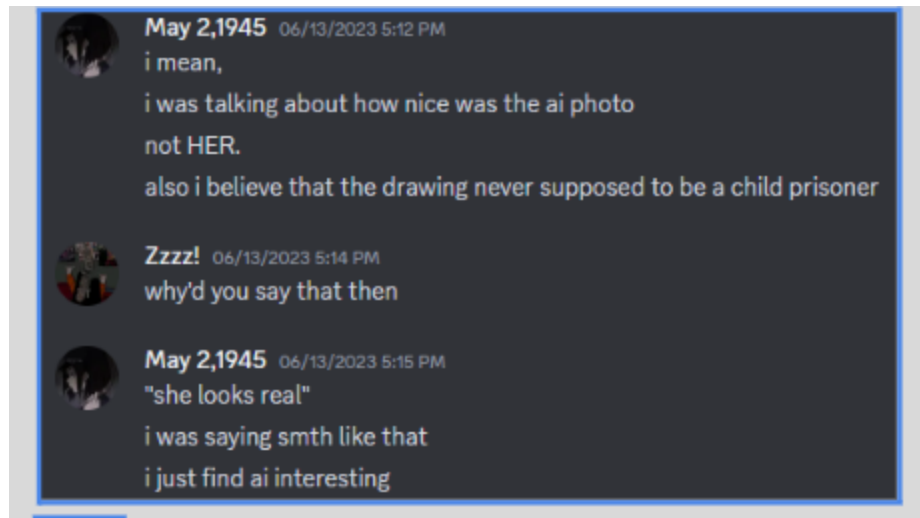

Image 1.2

In image 1.0, Sun provides an explanation for why she sent the image to Xene. It turns out that Xene presumed the image to be not safe for work (NSFW). According to her, she was impressed by the realism of the AI and did not intend for it to be seen as NSFW (not safe for work). However, Xene mistakenly presumed it to be NSFW based on their own interpretation.

In Image 1.1, her reasoning in image 1.0 is further solidified. She states that all she had found the image to be, is interesting.

In image 1.2, she made it aware that the ai generator was mee6, a discord bot that would not allow that type of content to be generated. I will not deny that it was weird nonetheless.

I hope you, the reader, can understand my initial doubt with this evidence and why it was discarded.

Now, I will start addressing the second piece of evidence they presented regarding her alleged involvement in pedophilia. Please note that I do not agree with or endorse the accusations against her, and it is important to understand that deciphering this evidence has been challenging.

First accusation was how Sun was running a game with a young age group on a server that was supposedly intended for 18 and over. Initially, I had some belief in these accusations until Sun, the alleged, made efforts to clarify and address the concerns. Her explanation was the reason I had noticed more holes in their evidence against her.

Another thing, the specific allegation suggesting Sun's interest in children, it is important to note that she explained her involvement in 18+ RP only. This clarification indicates that her activities were not to involve children, but rather a select few of members she trusted. Additionally, the responsibility for verifying the age of participants would lie with her partner, or those overseeing the community rather than Sun herself.

For one, she contested the claim of creating a game specifically targeting that age group, and I had the opportunity to personally experience said game. It was a typical city roleplay game with no negative or inappropriate content. It followed the standard structure, including generic teams and so on. I actually mentioned this to N3ko when I was asking for reasons to believe that she was a pedophile:

sun (not yush) posted THIS

In this image, you can clearly see that we were discussing Yush's involvement until he derailed this, and posted an image of Sun sending gore on their server. (I won't post it anyone reading this for everyone's sake.)

After this, I begged him to stay on topic on the matter and in which he then stated he had no evidence against him, only Xene did. He was just telling me stuff about him knowing full well he had evidence about it. Why???

I can agree on the last statement he made in this image. They were owners of the game and it does incriminate them when discussing their management style. However, what I disagree with is how he tried to downplay mis-matched evidence as Yush and Sun probably being both pedophiles because they were owners of the game. He could've just referred me to Xene so I could've gotten what I wanted. (Apparently too much to ask.)

Anyway, (Incomplete. Do Not Share Until Complete.)

Check 1:

1-3.

I hope that everything discussed here is now clear and understandable. I want to be transparent and admit that I don't consider myself the best owner; in fact, I believe I have been one of the worst. Over time, I became tired and lazy, largely due to the ongoing internal drama. As a result, I started distancing myself from many aspects of it, which unfortunately caused tensions within the community. I sincerely apologize for my actions and for the way I portrayed myself during that time.

As we come to the end of this segment, I want to emphasize on the significance of context when interpreting direct messages. It is crucial to understand that these messages may not accurately reflect the true intentions or meaning in the moment.

The infamous “I was a bad leader” tactic. Admitting to your poor leadership (Ferrus, sneaking Poopgamer back under an alt, sneaking Sun back under an alt, attacking Salty) will not save you from scrutiny.

Update:

Anyway, Following that situation, I directly asked him, in a blunt manner, how it was any of our business. Those were my exact words during the conversation.

Zzzz! 06/03/2023 6:52 PM

Ill get on that but as for the necrophillia can I ask

im blocking you

Zzzz! 06/03/2023 6:53 PM

Now, I admit that I made a mistake in not clearly expressing my true reasoning for stating that. Allow me to provide further explanation and expand on my previous statement:

Before all of this, I hired a person referred to me, who also worked for Letrux and did their liveries. I wanted us to have our own made to be a more realistic game, so I invited him to our developer communications and others started to ask him about his skills and so on.

Prior to all of these events, I hired an individual who was referred to me and had worked on liveries for Letrux. My intention was to make our game have a little realism by having custom-made liveries. I invited this person to join our developer communications. After that, other team members began asking about his skills and expertise.

It was not long after that when they were discussing his skills and images he posted, it came to light that they had been dishonest about their ability to create builds. Their work was discovered to be from toolbox rather than being original creations.

(The Build will not be shown.)

In the end, my intention was not to provoke the Letrux community, especially considering that they had already chosen to leave and had caused problems within their own community.
(Deleting all of the channels)

It is important to reiterate that I do not agree with any of their actions. My primary objective was to seek established, and factual information, which proved challenging due to the numerous conflicting stories. These stories were difficult to analyze, with each one countering the other. However, I ultimately listened to the community and decided not to re-invite them or provide an opportunity for them to appeal. Unfortunately, N3ko had already grown frustrated with me and did not get to hear this part of my reasoning.

Small note, I read the exhibition on Ferrus and I have nothing constructive to say on that so I'll keep quiet.

(what the fuck)

Checkpoint B:

Regarding the personal exhibition involving me, I want to clarify that all parties involved were approached without proper knowledge of the situation. Private messages were leaked, which can only be fully understood within the context of the moment they were exchanged. I have spoken with the parties involved, and they themselves are uncertain about any actions I may have taken or whether they want to be involved in the situation. Additionally, they have admitted to agreeing with the actions taken during that time. (of y'know what.)

If necessary, I am willing to provide more details, but I will censor or withhold any information pertaining to that period. It is important to note that everyone involved, including those who are placing blame on me, has been part of these communities for longer than I have. And some have grown apart from it, and they don't need to be dragged in.

Furthermore, it is worth noting that the parties involved do not have a clear recollection of what actually happened, or a clear memory of relevant information I've given about me in the past. Their comments have been presented in a different light, allowing it to be interpreted to the events (Of what was addressed in this document) according to their own desires or perspectives.
